^ Additional important information

Account balance information is retrieved from different sources as of different dates and/or times. Any "as of" date and/or time displayed reflects when Fidelity last retrieved the information and may not be indicative of the actual valuation date and/or time of the balance displayed.

Accounts:

In order to display account values, your asset and liability information is retrieved using a variety of methods, each of which has its own level of accuracy and timeliness:

Fidelity Accounts: The Fidelity accounts displayed generally include the Fidelity personal and retirement accounts associated with your tax identification number as reflected on Fidelity's books and records. Retirement accounts include workplace savings plan accounts (excluding defined benefit plan accounts) and individual retirement accounts. The values of these Fidelity accounts consist of positions and other account information derived from direct systematic updates from Fidelity's books and records. Although these systematic updates have been quality-tested, translation and/or presentation errors or delays may occur.

Fidelity account balance information generally reflects the most recent information available to Fidelity as of the date and/or time indicated adjacent to the account balance, subject to the following:

- Balances displayed for your accounts reflect information available to Fidelity when your selected accounts were last refreshed.
- Brokerage account balances are updated throughout each business day and display values that change with market price fluctuations on the underlying securities in your account. A recalculation takes place on your account, factoring in price fluctuations of holdings/securities, trade executions, and money movement into or out of the account throughout the day. Market conditions, technology issues and unavailability of pricing information may delay updates.
- Balance of mutual fund only accounts and Internal Revenue Code Section 529 college savings plan accounts reflect the value of the account as of the prior day's market close.
- The Stock Plan account values displayed are arrived at using the prior business day closing price (and may exclude accrued cash dividends), or the cash value for cash based plans. Values may be unvested and may not reflect withdrawn assets. Please refer to the provisions in your individual Award Agreement and the official stock plan document which govern the terms of your award. The provisions in the Award Agreement and stock plan document supercede any information, including conflicting information, displayed.
- Fidelity CryptoSM account balances are updated throughout the day and display values that change with market price fluctuations on the crypto held in your account.
- Annuities are priced as of the market close date on which the value per unit, income value, or withdrawal value for an annuity was last calculated. Annuity guarantees are subject to the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company.
- Workplace savings plan accounts reflect the value of the account as of the prior day's market close. Fidelity recordkept workplace savings account balances may include unvested amounts. Any BrokerageLink assets are displayed separately and are not included in the related workplace plan account balance. Your workplace plan account balance is not available during your plan's transition period.
- Credit card information is provided by the issuer. More current information may be available by visiting the website of the issuer.

Securities are priced real-time for customers that have agreed to the Real-Time Quotes Subscriber Agreements; otherwise, quotes are delayed at least 15 minutes. If the current market price is unavailable or the market is closed, Fidelity will factor in the most recent closing market price to determine the closing market value.

††† This plan is an unfunded, nonqualified plan, and no funded account has been established for you. Any account is only a recordkeeping account that records your deferred compensation and any notional earnings applicable to your deferred compensation. In the event of a bankruptcy or insolvency, you would be an unsecured, general creditor of the employer or service recipient. For more information on the plan, please refer to the plan documents.

Balances:

Balances exclude life insurance accounts and stock plan accounts. Workplace account balances may not reflect historical adjustments. For details, see transaction history in NetBenefits.

Your Balances reflects the difference in your All Accounts total balance over the selected time period. It includes all gain, loss, deposit and withdrawal activity over the selected time period, as of the most recent market close. This difference is divided by the beginning total balance at the start of the selected time period to calculate the relevant percentage increase or decrease during this time period.

Additional important information

Account balance information is retrieved from different sources as of different dates and/or times. Any "as of" date and/or time displayed reflects when Fidelity last retrieved the information and may not be indicative of the actual valuation date and/or time of the balance displayed.

Accounts:

In order to display account values, your asset and liability information is retrieved using a variety of methods, each of which has its own level of accuracy and timeliness:

Fidelity Accounts: The Fidelity accounts displayed generally include the Fidelity personal and retirement accounts associated with your tax identification number as reflected on Fidelity's books and records. Retirement accounts include workplace savings plan accounts (excluding defined benefit plan accounts) and individual retirement accounts. The values of these Fidelity accounts consist of positions and other account information derived from direct systematic updates from Fidelity's books and records. Although these systematic updates have been quality-tested, translation and/or presentation errors or delays may occur.

Fidelity account balance information generally reflects the most recent information available to Fidelity as of the date and/or time indicated adjacent to the account balance, subject to the following:

- Balances displayed for your accounts reflect information available to Fidelity when your selected accounts were last refreshed.
- Brokerage account balances are updated throughout each business day and display values that change with market price fluctuations on the underlying securities in your account. A recalculation takes place on your account, factoring in price fluctuations of holdings/securities, trade executions, and money movement into or out of the account throughout the day. Market conditions, technology issues and unavailability of pricing information may delay updates.
- Balance of mutual fund only accounts and Internal Revenue Code Section 529 college savings plan accounts reflect the value of the account as of the prior day's market close.
- The Stock Plan account values displayed are arrived at using the prior business day closing price (and may exclude accrued cash dividends), or the cash value for cash based plans. Values may be unvested and may not reflect withdrawn assets. Please refer to the provisions in your individual Award Agreement and the official stock plan document which govern the terms of your award. The provisions in the Award Agreement and stock plan document supercede any information, including conflicting information, displayed.
- Fidelity CryptoSM account balances are updated throughout the day and display values that change with market price fluctuations on the crypto held in your account.
- Annuities are priced as of the market close date on which the value per unit, income value, or withdrawal value for an annuity was last calculated. Annuity guarantees are subject to the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company.
- Workplace savings plan accounts reflect the value of the account as of the prior day's market close. Fidelity recordkept workplace savings account balances may include unvested amounts. Any BrokerageLink assets are displayed separately and are not included in the related workplace plan account balance. Your workplace plan account balance is not available during your plan's transition period.
- Credit card information is provided by the issuer. More current information may be available by visiting the website of the issuer.

Securities are priced real-time for customers that have agreed to the Real-Time Quotes Subscriber Agreements; otherwise, quotes are delayed at least 15 minutes. If the current market price is unavailable or the market is closed, Fidelity will factor in the most recent closing market price to determine the closing market value.
